

PERFORMANCE COACH

Paul Cho

Bachelor of Business - Economics
Financial Adviser

WHAT PAUL'S CLIENTS SAY

"Paul is really motivating and positive when it comes to discussing budgets, numbers and plans for the future. He is so good at responding to all of our queries and the email communication sent following our meetings is so helpful. We feel confident with our plans and look forward to seeing what we can achieve."

"Paul was warm, friendly and supportive. He seemed to really understand 'real life'."

There's nothing Paul loves more than the smile on clients' faces when they realise their financial dreams can become their reality.

With a background in project coordination and key relationship management, Paul has a wealth of experience in understanding clients' needs, and then delivering the best possible outcome.

As a financial coach, he's committed to guiding his clients to financial stability and achieving their financial goals.

Paul understands how detrimental struggling financially can be: "It means opportunities are missed and dreams are swept away. As a coach, I'm driven to do what I can to help my clients reach their potential."

Born in Korea, Paul has lived in Auckland since he was a year old. He loves that no matter where you are in the city, you're just a 15-minute drive from a beach.